THE DISTRICT OF MARYLAND

MARYLAND SHALL ISSUE, INC., et al.,

Baltimore, Maryland 21234-2150,

Plaintiffs,

No.: 1:22-cv-00865-SAG

v.

ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTY, MARYLAND
44 Calvert Street
Annapolis, MD 21401,

Defendant.

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR A PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION AND TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER
AND IN SUPPORT OF
PLAINTIFFS' ALTERNATIVE MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs respectfully move this Court for an order granting a preliminary injunction that enjoins defendant Anne Arundel County, Maryland from enforcing Bill 108-21 as against the plaintiffs in this case. Alternatively, plaintiffs respectfully move this Court for an order granting summary judgment. These motions are supported by the accompanying affidavits of each of the named plaintiffs verifying the truth of the allegations set forth in the Complaint, filed April 4, 2022. A Preliminary Injunction or Summary Judgment should be granted on the face of the pleadings as there are no disputed issues of fact and plaintiffs are entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

Under Bill 108-21, Anne Arundel County prepares “literature relating to gun safety, gun training, suicide prevention, mental health, and conflict resolution and distribute the literature to all establishments that sell guns or ammunition.” Bill 108-21 then requires that licensed firearms dealers in the County, including the plaintiff dealers in this case, make this literature “visible and available”

1 at the business establishments of licensed firearms dealers and to “distribute the literature” to “all
2 purchasers of guns or ammunition” at such locations. Other than Maryland Shall Issue, Inc., each
3 plaintiff to this action is a licensed firearms dealer subject to Bill 108-21, and each plaintiff objects to 4 being commandeered as a distributor for the County’s literature. Bill 108-21 constitutes “compelled 5 speech” in violation of the plaintiff dealers’ First Amendment rights. Bill 108-21 also violates the 6 First Amendment rights of persons who visit or do business with a dealer in Anne Arundel County
7 by effectively chilling the speech of customers who may disagree with the County’s preferred
8 message
9

10 STATEMENT OF THE CASE

11 A. Bill 108-21

12 On January 10, 2022, the Defendant, Anne Arundel County, Maryland (“the County”) signed
13 into law Bill 108-21 (“the Bill”), a copy of which is attached to the Complaint as Exhibit A and is 14 incorporated herein in its entirety by reference. Bill 108-21 became effective on April 10, 2022.
15 Bill 108-21 amends the Anne Arundel County Code, Article 12, Title 6, Section 12-6-108, to provide 16 in subsection (A) through (C):
17

19 (A) Duties of Health Department. The Anne Arundel County health department shall 20 prepare literature relating to gun safety, gun training, suicide prevention, mental health, and 21 conflict resolution and distribute the literature to all establishments that sell guns or 22 ammunition.

24 (B) Requirements. Establishments that sell guns or ammunition shall make the literature
25 distributed by the health department visible and available at the point of sale. These 26 establishments shall also distribute the literature to all purchasers of guns or ammunition.
27
28

1 C) Enforcement. An authorized representative of the Anne Arundel County Health
2 Department may issue a citation to an owner of an establishment that sells guns or ammunition
3 for a violation of subsection 8 (b).

4
5 Bill 108-21 amends the Anne Arundel County Code, Article 12, Title 6, Section 12-6-108(D), to 6 impose a penalty for any violation of Bill 108-21, stating that “a violation of this section is a Class C
7 civil offense pursuant to § 9-2-101 of this code.” A Class C civil offense under Section 9-2-101 of the 8 County Code is punishable by a fine of “$500 for the first violation and $1,000 for the second or any 9 subsequent violation.”

10
11 The County’s literature takes the form of two pieces. The first is a pamphlet entitled “Firearms 12 and Suicide Prevention” published jointly by the National Shooting Sports Foundation (“NSSF”) and 13 the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention. A copy of that pamphlet, as downloaded from the 14 NSSF website at <https://bit.ly/3rgLt6r>, is attached as Exhibit B to the Complaint and is incorporated
15 herein in its entirety by reference. The text and layout of this downloaded copy is identical to the 16 printed copy distributed by the County. The second piece of literature distributed by the County on or 17 about April 8, 2022, is a single page measuring 6” by 6,” setting forth information concerning County
18 “resources” for “conflict resolution.” A copy of that piece of literature is attached as Exhibit C to the 19 Complaint and is incorporated herein in its entirety by reference.

20
21 B. The Parties

22
23 Plaintiff Maryland Shall Issue, Inc. (“MSI”) is a Maryland corporation, located at 9613
24 Harford Rd., Ste C #1015, Baltimore, MD 21234-2150. MSI is an Internal Revenue Service certified,
25 Section 501(c)(4), non-profit, non-partisan membership organization with approximately 2000
26 members statewide. MSI is dedicated to the preservation and advancement of gun owners’ rights in 27 Maryland. It seeks to educate the community about the right of self-protection, the safe handling of 28

1 firearms, and the responsibility that goes with carrying a firearm in public. The purposes of MSI
2 include promoting the exercise of the Second Amendment right to purchase arms. MSI engages in 3 education, research, and legal action focusing on the constitutional right to privately own, possess and 4 carry firearms. MSI has members who live in Anne Arundel County and purchase firearms and/or 5 ammunition from firearms dealers in Anne Arundel County. Each of the other plaintiffs in this matter
6 is a corporate member of MSI.
7

8 MSI brings this suit on behalf of its members who are firearms dealers in Anne Arundel
9 County, and who are required to display and distribute County literature by Bill 108-21, and who are 10 thus directly regulated by Bill 108-21. Complaint ¶ 9. MSI also brings this suit in its representational
11 capacity on behalf of its individual members who visit or do business with Anne Arundel County
12 dealers and sellers of ammunition and who are thus subject to the forced receipt or display of literature
13 required by Bill 108-21. (Id.). MSI has one or more individual members who live in Anne Arundel
14 County and/or have purchased or intend to purchase firearms and/or ammunition from dealers in Anne 15 Arundel County.
16

18 The remaining plaintiffs, FIELD TRADERS, LLC, CINDY’S HOT SHOTS, INC., 19 PASADENA ARMS, LLC, and WORTH-A-SHOT, INC. (hereinafter collectively “plaintiff
20 dealers”), are all private federally and Maryland State licensed firearms dealers located in Anne 21 Arundel County. Each of these plaintiff dealers regularly sells firearms, including regulated firearms, 22 as well as ammunition for firearms. Each of the plaintiff dealers objects to Bill 108-21 because the 23 Bill commandeers it to act as a mouthpiece and conduit for County communications mandated by Bill
24 108-21. Each of the plaintiff dealers alleges that Bill 108-21 requires it to involuntarily display and 25 distribute County literature with which the plaintiff disagrees and each alleges that it does not wish to 26 be a party to these communications or to be seen by its customers and potential customers as endorsing
27
28

1 implicitly or otherwise the County’s messages and opinions set out in the literature required by Bill
2 108-21. Each of the plaintiff dealers is a corporate member of MSI. Complaint ¶¶ 10-13. Each of the 3 plaintiff dealers alleges that it is regulated directly by Bill 108-21 and each alleges that it has standing
4 to sue on its own behalf and on behalf of its customers and other persons who are similarly situated.
5
6 Id. at ¶ 14.

7 The Defendant is Anne Arundel County, Maryland. Anne Arundel County (“the County”) is 8 a chartered home rule county within the meaning of Article XI-A of the Maryland Constitution. Bill
9 108-21, challenged herein, is a County ordinance and thus an official policy of the County. The 10 County may thus be named and sued eo nomine under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Monell v. Department of 11 Social Services, 436 U.S. 658 (1978); Starbuck v. Williamsburg James City County School Board, 28
12 F.4th 529, 533-34 (4th Cir. 2022); Lytle v. Doyle, 326 F.3d 463, 471 (4th Cir. 2003). Complaint ¶ 15.

14 ARGUMENT

15 I. STANDARD OF REVIEW

16 A. Summary Judgment

17 Pursuant to Rule 56, FRCP, plaintiffs request summary judgment granting declaratory relief
18 and a permanent injunction enjoining the County from enforcing Bill 108-21 against them or any 19 other member of MSI. Rule 56 requires that “[t]he court shall grant summary judgment if the movant
20 shows that there is no genuine dispute as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment
21 as a matter of law.” The party seeking summary judgment has the burden of establishing the genuine 22 absence of disputed issues of material fact. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 322–23 (1986).

23 To defeat a motion for summary judgment, the defendant must do more than create “some 24 alleged factual dispute between the parties.” Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 247–48
25 (1986). Rather, the defendant must demonstrate a genuine issue to a material fact through admissible
26
27
28

1 evidence. Thus, the “non-moving party must present sufficient evidence such that reasonable jurors
2 could find by a preponderance of the evidence for the non-movant, for an apparent dispute is not 3 genuine within contemplation of the summary judgment rule unless the non-movant’s version is 4 supported by sufficient evidence to permit a reasonable [finder of fact] to find the facts in his [or her]
5 favor.” Sylvia Dev. Corp. v. Calvert Cnty., 48 F.3d 810, 818 (4th Cir. 1995). ‘Where the record taken
6 as a whole could not lead a rational trier of fact to find for the nonmoving party, there is no genuine
7 issue for trial.’” Ricci v. DeStefano, 557 U.S. 557, 586 (2009) (quoting Matsushita v. Zenith Radio
8 Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 587 (1986)).
9

11 The questions presented on this motion are pure questions of law and there are no material
12 disputed issues of fact. The factual predicates for this suit are verified by the accompanying 13 declarations of the plaintiffs, each of which attest to the factual allegations of the Complaint. The 14 material facts are simply stated. First, the County has enacted Bill 108-21. (Complaint Exhibit A).
15 Second, pursuant to Bill 108-21, the County has prepared the literature required by Bill 108-21 and 16 distributed that literature to dealers County-wide. (Complaint, Exh. B & C). Third, each of the plaintiff
17 dealers are Anne Arundel County dealers who are subject to Bill 108-21, and thus each must “display”
18 and “distribute” this literature, as required by Bill 108-21. Fourth, each of the plaintiffs object to this 19 forced display and distribution of the County’s literature. Complaint ¶¶ 9-13. Fifth, each of the 20 plaintiff-dealers has received this literature and each such dealer is complying with Bill 108-21 only 21 in order to avoid the fines that would be imposed under Bill 108-21 for non-compliance. See 22 Declarations of plaintiff-dealers at ¶ 3. But for Bill 108-21, the plaintiff dealers would not display or 23 distribute the literature distributed to the dealers by the County. (Id.). A violation of these obligations
24 to display and distribute is punishable by a civil fine of $500 for the first offense and $1,000 for a 25
26
27

1 second and subsequent offenses. Complaint ¶ 6. The County cannot reasonably dispute any of these 2 basic facts.

3 B. Preliminary Injunction and Temporary Restraining Order

4 In the alternative, plaintiffs have moved this Court for an order granting a preliminary
5 injunction and a temporary restraining order (“TRO”) barring the County from enforcing Bill 108-
6 21. A party seeking a preliminary injunction or temporary restraining order must establish the 7 following elements: (1) a likelihood of success on the merits; (2) a likelihood of suffering irreparable
8 harm in the absence of preliminary relief; (3) that the balance of equities tips in the party's favor; and 9 (4) why the injunction is in the public interest. Winter v. Natural Res. Def. Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 10 20 (2008). “A preliminary injunction is an extraordinary remedy intended to protect the status quo
11 and prevent irreparable harm during the pendency of a lawsuit.” Di Base v. SPX Corp., 872 F.3d 224, 12 230 (4th Cir. 2017) (collecting case law). “[A] preliminary injunction can also act to restore, rather 13 than merely preserve, the status quo, even when the nonmoving party has disturbed it.” Id. at 231.

14 While all four elements for a preliminary injunction must be satisfied (id.), irreparable injury
15 and a likelihood of success are the “most critical.” Nken v. Holder, 556 U.S. 418, 434 (2009). The 16 first element of a likelihood of success “does not require “a ‘certainty of success,’” but rather only 17 that “the plaintiff ‘must make a clear showing that he is likely to succeed at trial.’” St. Michael's 18 Media, Inc. v. Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, --- F.Supp.3d ----, 2021 WL 4772927 at 14 (D.
19 Md. 2021) (quoting Di Biase v. 872 F.3d at 230). While a plaintiff must also show irreparable harm, 20 Benisek v. Lamone, 138 S. Ct. 1942, 1944 (2018), “[t]he loss of First Amendment freedoms, for even 21 minimal periods of time, unquestionably constitutes irreparable injury.” Elrod v. Burns, 427 U.S. 347, 22 373 (1976) (plurality opinion). See also Legend Night Club v. Miller, 637 F.3d 291, 301 (4th Cir.
23 2011) (same). Similarly, the public interest is served, as a matter of law, by enjoining the
25
26
27
28

1 unconstitutional actions of a locality. See, e.g., Legend Night Club, 637 F.3d at 303 (“upholding
2 constitutional rights is in the public interest”). While the plaintiff must show that the balance of 3 equities favors it, “[a] state is ‘in no way harmed by issuance of a preliminary injunction which 4 prevents the state from enforcing restrictions likely to be found unconstitutional. If anything, the 5 system is improved by such an injunction.’” Giovani Carandola, Ltd. v. Bason, 303 F.3d 507, 521
6 (4th Cir. 2002) (citation omitted). As detailed below, all of these elements are easily satisfied here.

8 II. BILL 108-21 VIOLATES THE FIRST AMENDMENT RIGHTS OF PLAINTIFFS

9 The Complaint alleges that Bill 108-21 violates the First Amendment rights of plaintiffs. “The 10 First Amendment is applicable to the States through the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth 11 Amendment.” Virginia State Bd. of Pharmacy v. Va. Citizens Consumer Council Inc., 425 U.S. 748, 12 749 n.1 (1976); Lovell v. Griffin, 303 U.S. 444, 450 (1938). This violation is multifaceted and 13 ongoing.
14

15 The Supreme Court’s “leading First Amendment precedents have established the principle 16 that freedom of speech prohibits the government from telling people what they must say.” Rumsfeld
17 v. Forum for Academic and Institutional Rights, Inc., 547 U.S. 47, 61 (2006). “[N]o official, high or 18 petty, can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion, or other matters of 19 opinion or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein.” West Virginia Bd. of Ed. v.
20 Barnette, 319 U.S. 624, 642 (1943). Any state action “which forces an individual ... to be an 21 instrument for fostering public adherence to an ideological point of view” is unacceptable under the 22 First Amendment. Wooley v. Maynard, 430 U.S. 705, 717 (1977).
23

25 Persons have a First Amendment “right not to utter political and philosophical beliefs that the 26 state wishes to have said.” Greater Baltimore Center for Pregnancy Concerns, Inc. v. Mayor and City
27 Council Of Baltimore, 879 F.3d 101, 111 (4th Cir.), cert. denied, 138 S.Ct. 2710 (2018). There is a 28

1 First Amendment right “not to speak” because “the right to refrain from speaking is concerned with 2 preventing the government from “[c]ompelling individuals to mouth support for views they find
3 objectionable.” Overbey v. Mayor of Baltimore, 930 F.3d 215, 222 (4th Cir. 2019) (quoting Janus v.
4 Am. Fed'n of State, Cty., & Mun. Employees, Council, 138 S.Ct. 2448, 2463 (2018). Under the First
5 Amendment, the government may not command a person to serve as a “conduit” for government
6 speech, and may not be “forced either to appear to agree with [the intruding leaflet] or to respond.”
7 Hurley v. Irish-American Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Group of Boston, 515 U.S. 557, 575 (1995)
8 (quoting Pacific Gas & Electric Co. v. Public Utilities Comm’n, 475 U.S. 1, 15 (1986) (plurality
9 opinion) (brackets the Court’s).

10
12 By its terms, Bill 108-21 compels a dealer to “display” and “distribute” County-sponsored 13 literature directed at “gun safety, gun training, suicide prevention, mental health, and conflict
14 resolution.” This literature and requirement is “content-based” because “[b]y compelling individuals
15 to speak a particular message, such notices “alte[r] the content of [their] speech.” National Institute
16 of Family and Life Advocates v. Becerra, 138 S.Ct. 2361, 2371 (2018) (“NIFLA”) (quoting Riley v.
17 National Federation of Blind of N. C., Inc., 487 U.S. 781, 795 (1988). “The Supreme Court has 18 emphasized that there is no constitutional difference between ‘compelled statements of opinion’ and 19 ‘compelled statements of fact’ because ‘either form of compulsion burdens protected speech.’”
20 Washington Post v. McManus, 944 F.3d 506, 518 (4th Cir. 2019) (quoting Riley, 487 U.S. 797-98).
21 In every sense of the word, Bill 108-21 seeks to compel the speech of dealers by forcing them, upon 22 pain of a substantial civil fine, to act as an agent for the speech that the County wishes to promote and 23 sponsor.

26 Bill 108-21 does not purport to regulate commercial speech of the plaintiff dealers because 27 the County’s literature “is not limited to ‘purely factual and uncontroversial information about the 28

1 terms under which ... services will be available.” NIFLA, 138 S.Ct. at 2372 (quoting and
2 distinguishing Zauderer v. Office of Disciplinary Counsel of Supreme Court of Ohio, 471 U.S. 626,
3 651 (1985)). Opinions vary widely concerning “gun safety, gun training, suicide prevention, mental 4 health, and conflict resolution.” Nothing in the County’s literature concerns or purports to regulate 5 any conduct of the dealers. NIFLA, 138 S.Ct. at 2372. The display and distribution requirements of 6 Bill 108-21 have no purpose other than to commandeer dealers and other sellers of ammunition into 7 acting as conduits for the opinions and messages adopted by the County.
8

9 Bill 108-21 violates the First Amendment’s prohibition on compelled speech by compelling
10 the plaintiff dealers to display and distribute the County literature and thus act as involuntary conduits
11 for the County’s message “relating to gun safety, gun training, suicide prevention, mental health, and 12 conflict resolution.” Bill 108-21 also violates plaintiff dealers’ First Amendment right “not to speak”
13 on such subjects, as the plaintiff dealers are compelled by Bill 108-21 to display and distribute the 14 County’s literature. By compelling the plaintiff dealers to display and distribute the County’s
15 literature, Bill 108-21 violates the First Amendment by forcing the plaintiff dealers either to appear
16 to agree with the County’s literature or respond to the County’s literature by affirmatively speaking 17 where the plaintiff dealers might well prefer to remain silent.
18

19 Bill 108-21 also violates the First Amendment rights of customers of dealers, including MSI
20 members, because customers are chilled in the exercise of their own First Amendment rights by the 21 forced distribution of the County’s literature to such customers. Specifically, recipients of such 22 official communications from the County will objectively be less willing to articulate their own views
23 “relating to gun safety, gun training, suicide prevention, mental health, and conflict resolution,” 24 especially where, as here, the dealer is the distributor and thus may be reasonably understood to 25 endorse the views of the literature that Bill 108-21 compels the dealer to distribute and display. As 26
27
28

1 explained infra, Part III, customers wishing to exercise their Second Amendment rights to purchase
2 firearms and/or ammunition, are forced to participate in the County’s distribution scheme every time
3 such a purchase is made, and indeed, every time the customer merely visits a dealer who is forced to 4 display the County literature.

6 III. EACH OF THE PLAINTIFFS HAS STANDING TO SUE

7 A. Plaintiff Dealers Have Standing

8 Each of the plaintiffs in this case has standing to challenge Bill 108-21. Each of the plaintiff
9 dealers has Article III standing to sue on its own behalf as each dealer is directly regulated by Bill 10 108-21. See Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 561-62 (1992) (“Where “the plaintiff is 11 himself an object of the action ... there is ordinarily little question that the action or inaction has caused 12 him injury, and that a judgment preventing or requiring the action will redress it.”). See also Maryland
13 Shall Issue, Inc. v. Hogan, 971 F.3d 199, 212-13 (4th Cir. 2020) (applying Lujan to sustain standing 14 of a plaintiff firearms dealer). Each plaintiff dealer also has standing to sue on behalf of its customers 15 and “other similarly situated persons” for injuries inflicted by Bill 108-21. Maryland Shall Issue, Inc.
16 971 F.3d at 216. If one plaintiff has standing, it is unnecessary to determine the standing of other 17 plaintiffs. (Id., 971 F.3d at 214 & n.5). Bowsher v. Synar, 478 U.S. 714, 721 (1986) (same).

20 Each of the plaintiff dealers is chilled in the exercise of its Amendment rights and thus has 21 been injured by Bill 108-21. “[I]n First Amendment cases we have relaxed our rules of standing
22 without regard to the relationship between the litigant and those whose rights he seeks to assert
23 precisely because application of those rules would have an intolerable, inhibitory effect on freedom
24 of speech.” Thornhill v. Alabama, 310 U.S. 88, 97-98 (1940) (quoted in Munson, 467 U.S. at 957
25 n.7). Cooksey v. Futrell, 721 F.3d 226, 235 (4th Cir. 2013) (“The Supreme Court of the United States 26 has explained that standing requirements are somewhat relaxed in First Amendment cases.”); Benham
27

1 v. City of Charlotte, 635 F.3d 129, 135 (4th Cir. 2011) (noting that a “cognizable injury under the
2 First Amendment is self-censorship, which occurs when a claimant is chilled from exercising her right
3 to free expression”) (internal quotation marks omitted). Customers and persons intending to purchase
4 firearms and/or ammunition in the County, including MSI members, have standing under these 5 principles.

6
7 Bill 108-21 went into effect on April 10, 2022, and there is no indication that the County will 8 not fully enforce its provisions. The plaintiff dealers have received the County’s literature and are 9 expected to comply with Bill 108-21, and do so only to avoid the fines imposed by Bill 108-21. See
10 Declarations of plaintiff dealers at ¶ 3. With each passing day, the plaintiffs suffer irreparable harm 11 to their rights because of Bill 108-21. Elrod v. Burns, 427 U.S. 347, 373 (1976) (“loss of First 12 Amendment freedoms, for even minimal periods of time, unquestionably constitutes irreparable 13 injury”). “An allegation of future injury may suffice if the threatened injury is ‘certainly impending,’ 14 or there is a ‘substantial risk’ that the harm will occur.” Susan B. Anthony List v. Driehaus, 573 U.S.
15 149, 158 (2014) (citation omitted). See also Davidson v. Randall, 912 F.3d 666, 678 (4th Cir. 2019).

16 17 18 B. MSI Has Representational Standing

19 This Court need not reach the standing of Maryland Shall Issue, as each of the plaintiff dealers
20 has standing to sue on its own behalf and on the behalf of its customers. Maryland Shall Issue, Inc.
21 971 F.3d at 214, n.5, & 216. That said, MSI likewise has standing to sue on behalf of its members
22 who visit or do business with Anne Arundel County dealers and sellers of ammunition and who are 23 thus subject to the forced receipt or display of literature required by Bill 108-21. See Hunt v.
24 Washington State Apple Advert. Com’n, 432 U.S. 333, 342 (1977); Warth v. Seldin, 422 U.S. 490, 25 511 (1975) (“[S]o long as the nature of the claim and of the relief sought does not make the individual
26 participation of each injured party indispensable to proper resolution of the cause, the association may 27

1 be an appropriate representative of its members, entitled to invoke the court’s jurisdiction.”). See also
2 Retail Industry Leaders Ass’ v. Fielder, 475 F.3d 180, 186 (4th Cir. 2007) (“[a]ssociational standing
3 may exist even when just one of the association’s members would have standing”).
4

5 MSI has one or more individual members who live in Anne Arundel County and/or have 6 purchased and/or intend to purchase firearms and/or ammunition from dealers in Anne Arundel
7 County. Each of MSI’s members who do business at Anne Arundel County firearms dealers are 8 injured by the forced display and receipt of County literature when they exercise their Second 9 Amendment right to purchase firearms or ammunition from Anne Arundel County dealers. The 10 interests that MSI seeks to protect are germane to MSI’s purpose and neither the claims asserted herein
11 nor the relief requested require the participation of MSI’s individual members. MSI seeks only 12 prospective injunctive and declaratory relief (not damages) on behalf of its members who have 13 purchased or may purchase firearms and/or ammunition from Anne Arundel County dealers and 14 outlets that are subject to Bill 108-21. See United Food and Commercial Workers Union Local 751
15 v. Brown Group, Inc., 517 U.S. 544, 546 (1996).
16

18 The harms inflicted by Bill 108-21 are multifaceted. The Second Amendment protects “the 19 right of law-abiding, responsible citizens to use arms in defense of hearth and home.” District of 20 Columbia v. Heller, 554 U.S. 570, 635 (2008). That right is fundamental and thus fully 21 incorporated as against the States under the Fourteenth Amendment. McDonald v. City of Chicago, 22 561 U.S. 742, 767 (2010) (holding that “the right to keep and bear arms is fundamental to our 23 scheme of ordered liberty”). Law-abiding, responsible citizens have a Second Amendment right
24 to purchase firearms. Teixeira v. City of Alameda, 873 F.3d 670, 677 (9th Cir. 2017) (en banc), 25 cert. denied, 138 S.Ct. 1988 (2018) (“the core Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms for 26 self-defense ‘wouldn't mean much’ without the ability to acquire arms”). Law-abiding responsible 27
28

1 citizens have a Second Amendment right to purchase ammunition. Jackson v. City and County of
2 San Francisco, 746 F.3d 953, 967 (9th Cir. 2014), cert. denied, 576 U.S. 1013 (2015) (“without 3 bullets, the right to bear arms would be meaningless”).

4 Restraints on dealers necessarily affect customers of dealers. As a matter of federal law,
5 the acquisition of firearms generally takes place through licensed dealers. See, e.g., 18 U.S.C. §
6 922(a)(3),(5), § 922(b)(3). Maryland law also provides that a private sale of a long gun to non-
7 family members can only be accomplished through a federal NICS background check as facilitated
8 by a federally licensed dealer, such as the plaintiff dealers. MD Code, Public Safety, § 5-204.1. A
9 private sale of a handgun may likewise be facilitated by a State licensed dealer, such as plaintiff
10 dealers. MD Code, Public Safety, § 5-124(a)(1). While ammunition need not be sold through 11 dealers, it is common knowledge and a matter of common sense that such sales often take place
12 through dealers, either in stand-alone sales, or in connection with the sale of a firearm. Each of the 13 plaintiff dealers in this case thus stocks and sells ammunition. Complaint ¶¶ 10-13. See Celotex
14 Corp., 477 U.S. at 326 (employing “common sense” in a summary judgment context); Haze v.
15 Harrison, 961 F.3d 654, 659 (4th Cir. 2020) (same).

16 Because Bill 108-21 applies to all sellers of firearms and ammunition in Anne Arundel
17 County, and because, as a practical matter, customers must use licensed dealers to purchase firearms,
18 such purchasers of firearms and ammunition are effectively held captive to the County’s distribution
19 of its literature if they wish to exercise their Second Amendment right to purchase firearms and 20 ammunition. Cf. Hill v. Colorado, 530 U.S. 703, 717-18 (2000) (“The unwilling listener’s interest in 21 avoiding unwanted communication has been repeatedly identified in our cases” and this interest is 22 especially placed at risk where “the degree of captivity makes it impractical for the unwilling viewer 23 or auditor to avoid exposure”). Such purchasers, as a practical matter, are thus unable to avoid 24
25
26
27
28

1 exposure to unwanted speech by the County if they wish to exercise this fundamental constitutional
2 right in the County.

3 The chilling effect of Bill 108-21 is thus two fold. First, customers are chilled in the exercise
4 of their own speech because they will objectively be less willing to articulate their own views “relating 5 to gun safety, gun training, suicide prevention, mental health, and conflict resolution,” where the 6 dealer is the distributor and thus may be reasonably understood to endorse the views of the literature
7 required by Bill 108-21. Second, customers are chilled in the exercise of their Second Amendment
8 rights because such exercise is conditioned on the forced receipt of the County’s literature. The 9 County may not chill the exercise of First Amendment rights by burdening Second Amendment rights
10 or vice versa. Cf. Perry v. Sindermann, 408 U.S. 593, 597 (1972) (a government “may not deny a 11 benefit to a person on a basis that infringes his constitutionally protected interests especially, his 12 interest in freedom of speech”); Elrod, 427 U.S. at 359 (same). The County may not condition a 13 customer’s access to a dealer’s store or condition the dealer’s operation upon the dealer’s and the 14 customer’s acquiescence to the County’s forced display and distribution of its message.
15
17

18 These harms are sufficient injury to confer standing on customers, including MSI members,
19 who purchase or who intend to purchase, firearms or ammunition from Anne Arundel County dealers.
20 Secretary of State of Md. v. Joseph H. Munson Co., Inc. 467 U.S. 947, 956-57 (1984) (“Litigants, 21 therefore, are permitted to challenge a statute not because their own rights of free expression are 22 violated, but because of a judicial prediction or assumption that the statute’s very existence may cause
23 others not before the court to refrain from constitutionally protected speech or expression.”) (quoting 24 Broadrick v. Oklahoma, 413 U.S. 601, 612 (1973)).

1 IV. RELIEF REQUESTED

2 Pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983, plaintiffs are entitled to injunctive and declaratory relief and
3 nominal damages for the foregoing violations of their rights. Uzuegbunam v. Preczewski, 141 S.Ct.
4 792 (2021). Plaintiffs are also entitled to an award of attorneys’ fees and costs pursuant to 42 U.S.C.
5 § 1988. However, attorney fees are collateral to the merits and thus may be addressed separately at a
6 future time. See, e.g., Budinich v. Becton Dickinson & Co., 486 U.S. 196, 199-200 (1988). A TRO
7 and a preliminary injunction, enjoining the defendant from enforcing Bill 108-21, is essential to 8 maintain the status quo pending further litigation. In the alternative, the Court should enter summary
9 judgment to plaintiffs, awarding declaratory relief that Bill 108-21 violates the First Amendment
10 rights of plaintiffs and enter a final permanent injunction enjoining defendant from enforcing Bill 11 108-21.
12
13

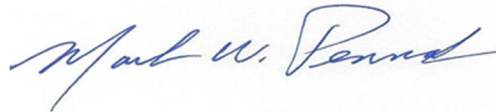

14 Given the difficulty of showing actual monetary damages at this early stage of the proceeding,
15 the plaintiff dealers should be awarded nominal damages for the foregoing violations of their rights.
16 Uzuegbunam, 141 S.Ct. at 800 (“the prevailing rule, ‘well established’ at common law, was ‘that a
17 party whose rights are invaded can always recover nominal damages without furnishing any evidence
18 of actual damage.’”) (citation omitted). See also Carey v. Phiphus, 435 U.S. 247, 266 (1978) (a 19 violation of constitutional rights is “actionable for nominal damages without proof of actual injury”).
20 The rights of each of the plaintiff dealers have already been invaded by the forced distribution of the 21 County literature every day that the dealers have been open for business since the April 10, 2022,
22 effective date of Bill 108-21. Those violations are complete and every additional day of compelled
23 compliance creates a new violation. Nominal damages of $1.00 for each day that each of the plaintiff
24 dealers have been subjected to the requirements of Bill 108-21 are thus appropriate. See Williams v.
25 Hobbs, 662 F.3d 994, 1010-11 (8th Cir. 2011) (holding that nominal damages are measured by 26
27
28

1 reference to each constitutional violation). Again, MSI seeks only prospective declaratory and 2 equitable relief (not damages) on behalf of its members who are customers. There is every reason to 3 enter summary judgment in this case without further ado and thus resolve this matter expeditiously.
4

5 CONCLUSION

6 For all the forgoing reasons, plaintiffs' motion for a TRO and a preliminary injunction should 7 be granted. In the alternative, the Court should enter summary judgment in favor of plaintiffs on the 8 merits and enter permanent injunctive and declaratory relief.

9 Respectfully submitted,
